Ignite The Spark is a grassroots community that promotes EnergyTech in Israel.

The community is a central place for relevant publications on what is happening in the field of energy innovation.

With its online and offline platforms, Ignite The Spark created an independent source of information, and a 'city square' for creating connections and finding partners for action.

The community has an emphasis on the following topics: Renewable and conventional energy sources, Methods for storing energy, Energy saving systems, Electric infrastructure and its digitization, Smart controllable devices, OT cyber.

Ignite the Spark

Eshel Lipman is an energy tech entrepreneur, currently a co-founder of a startup called ForPhase (Established in 2018 with a Ph.D. candidate from the Technion). Prior to this venture he served as VP of business development in several tech startups both in Israel and Australia. Coupled with his day job, he is now managing the Israeli Energy tech community called "Ignite The Spark" endorsing the growth of the Israeli energy tech sector in Israel.

From Nikola Tesla To Eilon Musk - Endorsing energy-tech ecosystem in Israel

In this seminar we will go through different trends in the field of energy tech, which is now being discussed domestically and globally. We will touch base on the most promising energy startups in Israel, and their biggest challenges/opportunities. Eventually, there will be a discussion about the importance of a healthy innovation eco-system with a balance between demand and supply.
